

About Crowley

Company Profile & Fact Sheet

History

In 1904, J.K. Crowley purchased a small dairy business in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and founded the Crowley Dairy Company. In 1915, he moved his company to Binghamton, N.Y., where, now known as Crowley Foods, it is still headquartered.

In the 100 years since J.K. Crowley founded the company, Crowley Foods has continued to grow. Consumers can find high quality, award-winning dairy products bearing the Crowley name from New York State to Ohio to Florida and as far west as the Mississippi River.

Today, Crowley Foods is made up of six dairy food brands that are leaders in their market areas - Crowley, Heluva Good, Rosenberger's Dairy, Axelrod, Maggio Cheese, and Penn Maid Dairy. Our company manufactures and distributes a full line of dairy products, refrigerated beverages, frozen desserts, and specialty products, which we sell to retail food and foodservice customers. Crowley Foods is owned by H.P. Hood, a manufacturer and distributor of dairy products throughout the United States, headquartered in Chelsea, M.A.

Crowley Brand Mission

We believe that the food products that carry the Crowley name are more than just items on your shopping list. We view our products as flavorful ingredients that enhance your style of living. Crowley dairy products are wholesome staples you can rely on to fuel your family's growth, make meals more delicious, add nutrition to your daily diet, and, above all else, enjoy. For generations, we have helped people live well through every stage of life.
